

“how often do you wish you were someone else?
how often do you wish you could be?
soulseek"

who are you
who do they think you are
what do they tell you
about a person
you can’t trust
i don’t remember
years of
abuse
externally and internally
erase
pasts
erase whoever
you were
for who you
want to be
functional
loved
cared for
happy
but your
lifestyle
makes you rather
wish you were
not dead
but just
not here

//2
Nothing makes me go crazy like a dirty mo
good food
being with the boys, and holding my own

One thing that’s non negotiable for me is a murder-suicide ending keeping the fan on at night crying so hard that i vomit

Two truths and a lie:
i’m not who i say i am
i’m not really here
i might already be dead

no one listens to me unless im screaming and even then they’d stopped paying attention and started wondering what’s wrong with me at that point
why or how
i could get so upset
over something so trivial

i will be remembered as someone with problems i’ve also spent the past four years living as if there was a body
in my closet
ed gein
in kat von d
and some clothes
from an exes ex.
people should be able to do what they want
and you should be nice
just to make the time between you and solitude
a little shorter
a little faster
one day you won’t be here

//4
if i agree with what they’re saying maybe they can’t hear me. maybe they’re not paying as much attention. it’s been four or five days and i don’t really remember being asked much about myself. it’s not like i could tell the full truth anyway. so i’ll nod and listen or whatever. i’ll become the background noise.

message to mom:

1:43am sunday 30 march

im really not sure what it is. it’s some form of bipolar most likely but im still yet to get a diagnosis. what’s worse than getting emotional and over the top like that is the crushing guilt and regret afterwards. i know that’s why i was so quiet today. i dont know what to do besides keep tracking in the general direction that im going, and hope i wish i had some other way i could be, but even acknowledging that feels as if (you're broken) you get distracted by thoughts of this show you don't send the message

you try to sleep
"are the voices you hear still there?"

you think about the corny fbi guy in the netflix documentary you're trying to fade out of life and into - how his kids must have seen his 15 seconds and all laughed about it, hugged or whatever. wishes for something that idk maybe could have happened to you? but without that level of specificity. i barely remember my childhood. i drank a beer on the roof of my house somewhere before 8 years old. i still don't really know why . i would sing along to link in park songs via ipod and dance and wish i could be a scene bean whatever the fuck that meant to me then, groomed by someone you could've known and now subjugated . a feeling of having a story to tell, but you don't. the story dies with you, not for lack of trying.

i don't think anyone really knows who i am i have a hard time figuring it out but most people do themselves i wonder
i would appear a seperate person to pretty much anyone
you ask
it would be so easy
to disappear
and leave
because they don't know you
and now you're trying
but failing
to understand
someone else.
